A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear FHSLA members,

In an era when many libraries are trying to determine how to survive challenging budgets and shortages of staff and time, I've tried to imagine how the Florida Health Sciences Library Association fits into the big picture of medical and health sciences librarianship. After talking with so many of you who have been FHSLA members for years, many folks who are new to FHSLA, and even some librarians who are not yet members, I realized that the answer is in our collective numbers.

As medical librarians and health science professionals, we are made up of people from all walks of life. We work in libraries with wide varieties of missions and goals. We are both colleagues and friends. We weather changes in politics, business, and the practice of medicine on a daily basis. We understand the links between technology, information, communication, and education. We persevere through hurricanes, fire, famine, and floods. We look to each other for guidance, collaboration, and support.

Together, we are the Florida Health Sciences Library Association. We are the "who's who" of medical librarians and health science professionals in the great state of Florida. We have a collective voice, and because of our association with each other, we are stronger and more knowledgeable than we could ever be on our own.

At the FHSLA Annual Meeting 2012, we talked about emerging technologies, and shifted our focus from the traditional thinking of print collections and brick and mortar buildings to virtual content and the tools and services that we employ to connect our patrons...our CUSTOMERS...to the information that they need to be successful and make informed decisions in whatever area that their expertise may reside.

We rely on information to make us successful as well. We ask bold questions about the costs and value of our library resources, we analyze data, and we make informed decisions based on research and the insight of our colleagues about what information is the best fit for each unique set of needs. Collectively, we have the curiosity to ask the appropriate questions and the determination to find the relevant answers.

Being a member of the Florida Health Sciences Library Association is more than just a line on a resume or vitae. Being a member of the Florida Health Sciences Library Association makes every single thing we do in our libraries better because we know that we have the strength and knowledge of our fellow members on our side. As we focus on the future, I urge you remember your fellow FHSLA members, and reach out to them to help you find the answers that you need to continue to move forward.

I hope to see you all on April 11-12, 2013 at the FHSLA Annual Meeting in Orlando, Florida.

With best regards and appreciation,

Martin Wood
FHSLA President

FHSLA 2012 Annual Meeting: "Emerging Technologies in Medical Libraries"

Librarian/Paraprofessional Scholarship Essay
Written by David Petersen

The FHSLA Librarian/Paraprofessional Scholarship enabled me to attend one of my first professional events in the medical library field. As a hospital library assistant, I am aware that the modern medical library must take on the role of a technological and information hub.

The continuing education course, taught by Ellie Bushhousen, was particularly intriguing. Cloud computing in its many forms represents a great opportunity for libraries to save money, provide better services, and increase collaboration. Nadine Dexter's lecture on how to integrate technology within the modern medical library was fascinating. Her main point was that libraries must embrace mobile technology and reach students and staff where they are. This means providing information resources that will function on their chosen devices, particularly smart-phones and tablets. The wealth of resources she presented gave me some excellent starting places in planning additional outreach resources to mobile users of our library. I also appreciated the excellent discussion from the panelists and was impressed by the necessity of collaboration with the IT department and medical staff when undertaking a technology project with library resources.

One of the best parts of the conference was meeting the wide variety of librarians. I was surprised by the close connection and collegiality among such a diverse group of medical librarians from hospitals, universities, and medical centers. Learning how other medical libraries have dealt with various problems gave me ideas in improving my library. I appreciated the professional emphasis on continuing education and improving one's skills with new technology. Visiting with the vendors and discussing new products provided a great learning experience. Attending the FHSLA meeting was a privilege and I look forward to collaborating with many of the people I met there.

One Hundred New Medical Students Receive iPads

This fall the Harriet F. Ginsburg Health Sciences Library continued its iPad initiative, now in its second year. New iPads were deployed to one hundred new first year medical students of the University of Central Florida's College of Medicine. Each student was personally greeted by library director, Nadine Dexter, who shared with them details about how the library's iPad initiative began in 2010 and about the library's two-year mobile technology study. The library once again was one of the most popular stops at the UCF COM orientation fair, featuring its famous popcorn machine and a stunning display of an iPad floating in water protected by a waterproof sheath.

Smartbooks for New Medical Students

This year the library embarked on an exciting partnership with interactive e-textbook producer, Inkling. The library is providing new first year medical students with nine of their required textbooks on the Inkling platform, including Thompson and Thompson Genetics in Medicine and Basic and Clinical Pharmacology, along with Bates Guides to Physical Examination and History Taking, which was highly popular with last year's M-1 students. Inkling e-textbooks, or "smartbooks" are changing the way students study by including varied modalities of learning. As opposed to a static print textbook, these interactive texts contain videos, sounds, spinning images, quizzes, and more. Students can read their textbooks on their iPads or smartphones using the Inkling app, or on the Inkling website. The library will be conducting a survey in December to gather student feedback and to determine whether the library will continue with this pilot project next year.

Appreciating Our Faculty

The Health Sciences Library has started a new tradition of showing its appreciation to College of Medicine faculty. Last August the library invited faculty to a casual, catered lunch where colleagues could mingle and relax before gearing up for the new semester. This year the library continued the tradition with a fun barbeque themed Faculty Appreciation Luncheon. Gingham tablecloths and bales of hay decorated the atrium in front of the library, where faculty lined up to feast on barbeque delights. This year's lunch was equally well attended and well received, ensuring a lasting annual fete.

Personnel

Kathy Moeller

Kathy Moeller retired on June 14, 2012. She was the Director of the Borland Health Sciences Library in Jacksonville, FL for the last five years. This Kathy's second retirement having retired approximately 6 years ago from Overlook Hospital in Summit, NJ where she had been the Manager of Library and CME Services for 29 years. She's relocating back to New Jersey and anticipates that once she gets settled in her new home, she'll be looking for volunteer opportunities in a library nearby.

Congratulations to Gretchen Kuntz, who has been named as the Director of the Borland Health Sciences Library in Jacksonville FL. Gretchen joined UF-Jacksonville as the clinical librarian in March of 2011. Previously, she had been the clinical liaison librarian at the Biomedical Library of the University of Pennsylvania for 9 years.

Rae Jesano was awarded tenure and promoted to Associate University Librarian.

Honors , Offices, Grants, Travel

Mary Edwards has achieved Senior Membership in the Academy of Health Information Professionals (AHIP), the credentialing body for medical librarians.

Mary Edwards and Rolando Milian were accepted as Fellows into the Biomedical Informatics workshop, at Woods Hole, MA. Rolando attended the workshop in June and Mary attended in September.

Rolando Milian has been chosen as a 2012 Rising Star by the Medical Library Association. As one of a national cohort of four librarians, Rolando will be partnered with a unit within MLA to work on a project for the coming year.

Linda Butson has completed her travel for her Kronick Fellowship. Linda's fellowship focuses primarily on library-based consumer health and community outreach services.

Hannah Norton was elected Treasurer of the Veterinary Medical Libraries Section of the Medical Library Association.

Linda Butson and Jennifer Lyon are co-PIs on a grant awarded to a team led by Dr. Rebecca Pauly through the UF Department of Medicine's Gatorade fund. As a result of this grant, Linda will spend 8 hours/week in medical clinics providing information services to patients and helping them formulate questions to ask their doctors.

Michele Tennant was invited to participate in a special conference on the future of research libraries held April 1-3. Michele presented "Looking forward: challenges and opportunities with the library as partner in research, collaboration, and assessment".

As part of the NNLM/SEA CTSA grant awarded to Michele Tennant, Cecilia Botero, Jennifer Lyon, Rolando Milian and Hannah Norton, 5 HSCL librarians (Michele, Cecilia, Jennifer, Gretchen Kuntz, Nancy Schaefer) traveled to Becker Medical Library at Washington University's College of Medicine, in St. Louis to receive training related to assessing and enhancing research impact and bibliometrics, They were given tips on how to engage members of UF's CTSL and assist in the renewal process for this grant.

Nancy Schaefer traveled to St. Louis to visit libraries serving public health programs: Washington University and St. Louis University as part of her Faculty Enhancement Opportunity looking at the state of library service to public health users at different types of institutions and levels of government.

Mary Edwards attended the Fifteenth Distance Library Services Conference (formerly the Off-Campus Library Services Conference) in Memphis, TN Wednesday April 18 – Friday April 20. She presented a paper titled: “Instructor-Librarian Case Study Evaluation of an Online Embedded Librarian Implementation of Friday April 20th.

On April 24th Ellie Bushhousen was the invited guest speaker at the annual meeting luncheon of the International Administrative Professionals Association. Her presentation was on cloud computing.

Linda Butson has been appointed to the 2012 Nominating Committee for the Southern Chapter of the Medical Library Association.

On July 2nd, Cecilia Botero and Michele Tennant were interviewed by Terrie Wheeler and Keith Cogdill from the National Institutes of Health. Terrie and Keith are evaluating the NIH Library’s Informationist Services, and are using the HSCL’s Liaison Librarian program as a model.

Michele Tennant has been named Chair of the Organizing Committee for Florida Genetics 2013, the UF Genetics Institute’s annual conference highlighting national speakers and cutting edge UF researchers.

Michele Tennant was named a member of the Academy of Health Information Professional’s subcommittee on AHIP credentialing for non-MLS professionals.

Rolando Garcia-Milian attended the 2012 Minnesota Institute for Early Career Librarians from Traditionally Underrepresented Groups, July 21-27 at the University of Minnesota.

New Name for Florida Hospital College of Health Sciences (FHCHS)

The Board of Trustees is pleased to announce that Florida Hospital College of Health Sciences (FHCHS) became Adventist University of Health Sciences, effective August 13, 2012.

The University will continue Florida Hospital College's commitment to healthcare as ministry and its legacy of excellence in education while still maintaining close ties to Florida Hospital and Adventist Health System. College President, David Greenlaw, stated, "We feel that the name Adventist University of Health Sciences is representative of the College's continued growth while still preserving our past. Our new name doesn't change who we are, it simply better defines us."

Earlier this year, FHCHS announced the planned addition of four new graduate programs: Master of Healthcare Administration, Physician Assistant, Doctorate of Nurse Anesthesia Practice, and Physical Therapy. In April 2012, the College broke ground on a new 90,000-square-foot addition to the campus that will house many of these graduate programs.

"With the physical and academic expansion on our campus, the time was right for this name change," said Greenlaw. "I couldn't be more pleased with the decision of the Board of Trustees."

The website and email information is the same for except that the domain "fhchs" is replaced by "adu".

All Children's Hospital

After a rigorous application process, RoseMary Hedberg, former Graduate Assistant in the Medical Library at All Children's Hospital in St. Petersburg, FL and recent MLIS graduate from the University of South Florida, was invited to become 1 of 4 National Library of Medicine (NLM) Associate Fellows selected from all over the U.S. and Canada. This one-year postgraduate training fellowship, which begins annually in September, is designed to provide new librarians with a broad foundation in health sciences libraries and in health services research. With the second-highest number of applicants ever this year, it is an honor that RoseMary was selected.

RoseMary has made Medical Librarianship and the NLM Associate Fellowship Program her singular goal since entering the graduate library program at USF in 2011. In addition to her position at All Children's, RoseMary was a Volunteer Intern at Moffitt Research Center Biomedical Library in Tampa, the ASIS&T Student Chapter President, USF's Student to Staff Representative for the 2012 ALA Annual Conference in Anaheim, and is involved in the Medical Library Association and the Southern Chapter of the MLA. Congrats to RoseMary on this achievement!

Robyn Rosasco

A big welcome to Robyn Rosasco, the newest faculty member of the Maguire Medical Library! Robyn received her Master of Science in Library and Information Studies at FSU and her B.A. in English Literature from the University of Florida. Over the past year, Robyn has worked as our library intern and as our assistant in e-resource management. She has also worked at the FSU Strozier library and as a graduate assistant in the School of Library and Information Studies at FSU.

As the Public Services Librarian for the Maguire Medical Library, Robyn will be working with both students and faculty to connect them to the medical library resources that best meet their needs.

Suzanne Nagy

Congratulations to Suzanne Nagy for the renewal of her Academy of Health Information Professionals (AHIP) membership at the Distinguished Level! Suzanne's membership was renewed in February 2012.

Martin Wood

Congratulations also to Martin Wood, our new Assistant Director for the Maguire Medical Library! Prior to being promoted to assistant director, Martin served as the head of e-resources and technical services for the medical library.

Roxann Williams and LeAnna Kiggins at FSU College of Medicine's Open Access Table

In celebration of International Open Access Week (October 22-28th), the Maguire Medical Library had an Open Access table to answer questions and educate the College of Medicine community about open access, author rights, and FSU's digital repository called DigiNole Commons. FSU College of Medicine's Scholarly Communications Librarian, Roxann Williams, talked with faculty and students about the potential benefits of open access and discussed how new methods of creating and disseminating scholarship is transforming research in the academic community.

Mentorship Program Interest Form

<http://www.fhsla.org>

FHSLA's Membership Committee is proposing an exciting new Mentorship Program! Rather than assigning mentees to a specific mentor we would like to have a Mentorship Ala Cart program. FHSLA members in need of mentorship in specific areas will be able to view of list of possible mentors within those specific areas. Before we fully launch this program, we need to determine who is available to be a mentor in which areas, and which areas individuals feel that they could use a mentor in. Once we have a list of potential mentors and topic areas, we will post that list on the FHSLA website.
